

Grocery Shopping Facts

- The typical supermarket holds 48,000 items.
- The latest store layouts include twists and turns in the aisles to encourage shoppers to meander and be tempted by what's on the shelf, particularly at eye level.
- Staples like milk, butter and eggs are usually located at the back on the store, requiring you to pass by hundreds more items.
- Grocery carts today are bigger, causing shoppers to buy as much as 40% more.

By using FairWeather Shoppers you get only what is on your list, eliminating all of the temptations the grocery store has for you.
